

The Classic Novel

Zorro: Narrative Writing

“In the meantime, Ana, with her habitual good nature, had taken Regina’s child, whimpering with hunger, to her breast; thus Diego and Bernardo, Ana’s son, began their lives with the same milk and lived in the same arms. That made them milk brothers for as long as they lived” (32).

Prompt: Write about a person in your life who could be considered a milk brother/sister. This should be someone with whom your relationship transcends friendship due to either your history, shared experience, or some other significant tie. Please write about the history of the relationship and its status today.

We will be reading these stories aloud in small groups. Narrative must be typed and printed.
